

Ryan East, Content Developer

Ryan, as a former teacher and Content Developer in educational publishing, is skilled at writing effective content across diverse media. He has published articles on best teaching practices, demonstrating how to make blended learning (electronic and face-to-face), vocabulary, and culture lessons meaningful, personal, and—most importantly—entertaining. At APA, Ryan brings a sound and sensitive approach to APA's text and context as he considers visitors who are like his past students—English language learners, “reluctant” readers, and students with limited prior schooling.

Education

- Master of Education Degree, Languages, College of Charleston, Charleston, SC
- Bachelor of Arts Degree, Double Major in Spanish & Philosophy, College of Charleston, Charleston, SC

Museums

- National Coast Guard Museum, New London, CT – Current

Interpretive, Visitor and Cultural Centres

- Oregon Nikkei Legacy Centre, Portland, OR – Current

Other Experience

- Bird Watching Guide, University of Georgia Costa Rica Campus, San Luis, CR
- Certified Historic District Tour Guide, Charleston, SC
- Migrant Education Coordinator, Charleston, SC