

Tim Stott

Exhibit Designer

Tim has decades of experience in Exhibit design, industrial design and product management. At APA, he brings all of his experience together—using 3D computer models to explore, develop and refine creative, engaging designs. He uses his knowledge of fabrication systems, ensuring smooth development. Ultimately, he bridges the gap between the creative concept and the built product. Tim's combination of experience creating braille and tactile signs, designing exhibits, and communicating the fabrication process, blended with his passions—sculpture and design—allow him to envision creative concepts while keeping the process and end product accessible.
