Explore an Ancient Practice

The Archives of Falconry is the only institution in the world dedicated to collecting and preserving the history of falconry. A powerful exhibit shares this strong tradition and spreads the institution's passion for the sport.

APA worked with partners in the US and the UAE to create memorable exhibits interpreting the significance of Arabian falconry for an American audience. The Sheikh Zayed Falconry Heritage Wing transports visitors to an Arabian desert in the 1930s. Audiovisuals, graphics, artifacts, artwork and environments—including a majlis tent with traditional music playing inside—immerse visitors in traditional Arabian falconry. Visitors discover more about the hunt and contemporary conservation efforts using interactive audiovisual kiosks.
