Hub of the Community

The Fort Vancouver Regional Library District is a trusted source of information across a 4,200 square mile service area. The central branch connects people to information, ideas and each other.

APA worked with architects and librarians to create interpretive experiences that encourage visitors to interact with their library in memorable ways. Through the Knowledge Wall—a three-story interactive installation—visitors link current events and topics to the library’s resources while touchscreens encourage visitors to explore deeper and share ideas.
