

Alaska Native Heritage Center

Anchorage, AK

Welcome Home to Alaska

For decades, the Alaska Native Heritage Center has told the stories of the Indigenous communities of Alaska's five geographic regions. Now, a refreshed center is being envisioned as a space of healing and reconciliation, welcoming both local Alaskan Natives and those returning to the state after long absences.

APA worked with center staff and stakeholders to create a roadmap for new experiences that spark connection and build a sense of belonging. Immersive projects transport visitors to the ice to hunt caribou. Hands-on weaving activities "go behind the glass" to bring cultural objects to life. Throughout, quiet gathering spaces provide opportunities to reflect and heal together.
